About Kurita America

As part of the Kurita Group, one of the leading industrial water solutions providers in the world, Kurita America brings innovations to market through a unique approach to water management. Delivered through the Kurita Way, our holistic approach incorporates all aspects of your facility, including technologies, equipment, engineering, and services, to get to the root cause of our customers' most complex challenges to deliver unique value and optimal results.

Scale, corrosion, deposits and microbiological fouling are common problems in sterilization equipment. Pasteurizers, retorts, autoclaves and aseptic processing equipment are all prone to stressful conditions because of the high pressure and temperatures within the vessel. Kurita America's thermal processing expertise allows us to design a water treatment program unique to our customer's particular process that protects equipment from corrosion and fouling concerns.
